

JONES SILVER BILL
WITHDRAWN TODAY

ACTION TAKEN TO HELP APPROPRIATION MEASURES.

The Set Back Received Yesterday—Consideration of All Silver Legislation Likely to be Postponed Until the Next Congress—Proceedings in the House.

Washington, Feb. 20.—Mr. Jones withdrew his silver bill in the senate this morning, in the interest of the appropriation bills.

Washington, Feb. 20.—Senator Jones (dem., Ark.) began the silver contest yesterday with the request that the senate proceed with the silver bill, but Mr. Hill objected to displacement of morning business.

"Then," said Mr. Jones, "I will move to take it up at once." Great interest was shown while the yeas and nays were being taken, which resulted as follows: Yeas—36. Nays—27.

On the announcement of the vote Mr. Jones said: "It is perfectly evident that senators will not have their views changed by any amount of talk. The friends of the measure are ready to vote, and they hope this vote will be taken without any unnecessary delay. I therefore give notice that I will endeavor to secure a vote before the senate adjourns to-night."

Mr. Hale asked Mr. Jones if he meant it was deliberately intended to displace the great appropriation bills and compelling an extra session of congress.

Mr. Jones responded sharply that if any appropriation bills were retarded it would be because a vote on the silver bill was not promptly taken.

"The senator is trying to shift the burden," responded Mr. Hale. "It is the action of those senators who now obstruct this new measure before the senate that causes the danger."

"Will the senator answer this question?" said Mr. Jones. "Will any amount of talk for a moment change the result?"

"Probably not," responded Mr. Hale. "But I think the friends of the bill had better go on without these suggestions of dilatory tactics."

"As there appears to be no disposition," concluded Mr. Jones, "to agree upon a time for a vote I will ask the senate to remain in session to-night until a vote is taken."

Mr. Vilas then addressed the senate. He spoke of the President's several messages to congress and his constant appeals. He said action was necessary to avert the calamity of a gold suspension. "Few have known," he said, "the imminence of the disaster to which the treasury came before action was taken to avert the disaster. If the drain had not been checked by the announcement of a contract," he said, "we should have been thrown to a silver basis or to the suspension of specie payments," and he declared the President had been doubtful whether he would be able to hold on for another day. Few persons had been aware of the peril, but there were some who appreciated it, and he read the following telegram from Mr. Buchanan, the United States minister to Argentina, to show the English bankers understood the situation:

Buenos Ayres, Feb. 4, 1895.—Gresham, Washington: The London and River bank, the largest in South America, under orders from London to-day, refused all classes of American exchange. Are you acquainted with this fact? Buchanan.

Commenting on the telegram he asserted the condition of affairs which cropped out in far off Argentina would have made itself manifest in all the European financial capitals.

A sharp colloquy occurred between Mr. Aldrich and Mr. Vilas during the latter's speech. Mr. Aldrich said the recent bonds could have been sold at 10 per cent above what they brought. "If the senator had stood at one end of a cable as the secretary of the treasury stood," said Mr. Vilas, "and had for days solicited all the great money centers of the world for their terms on our bonds he would not make such a statement."

Mr. Aldrich said if he had the resources available in the treasury and yet had to pay 1 per cent premium on bonds he would "go out of business."

Mr. Vilas took up personal charges that had been made against the administration. The senator said it was lamentable that such slanders should be brought into a debate dealing with great names. Mr. Vilas closed with a brilliant peroration for sustaining national honor and credit. He had spoken nearly four hours.

Mr. Platt said the pending silver bill was the most indefensible bill of the kind ever presented here. It sought to double the value of silver by delivering it to the treasury department.

Shortly after 6 o'clock Mr. Aldrich pressed a motion for adjournment. Mr. Jones called for the yeas and nays with apparent confidence of having the votes to defeat the adjournment. The motion was defeated, yeas, 15; nays, 32, two more than the necessary quorum.

Mr. Allison urged that the vote be postponed until to-day in order to permit proper debate. He said he would agree to a vote after fair debate, but no time could be set then with his consent for taking the vote.

Mr. Aldrich moved to go into executive session: yeas 7, nays 32, seven short of a quorum. The senate was thus brought to a standstill, for although a quorum was present a quorum could not be obtained for a vote.

At 8:55 business was resumed, a quorum being secured. Mr. Aldrich thereupon withdrew his motion for an executive session. It was evident an understanding had been reached. Mr. Wolcott, one of the most active of the silver men, then came forward with a resolution. It was as follows:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the senate that the welfare and prosperity of the United States requires the enactment of a law for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1.

"Resolved, That in view of the fact that this Congress will expire by law March 4, and that there are important appropriation bills requiring the attention of the senate that consideration of such a law be not entered upon at this session of congress."

Mr. Jones asked that the resolution lie over. Then he added: "I move that the senate now adjourn."

This was the signal for the close of the contest, and at 9:02 p. m. the senate adjourned until today at 11 o'clock.

VOTES AGAINST MORE SEAMEN.

Sayers' Scheme to Enlist 2,000 Additional Men Is Defeated.

Washington, Feb. 20.—In the house yesterday after the passage of some minor bills the senate amendments to the agricultural appropriation bills were disagreed to and the bill sent to conference.

Mr. Sayers' amendment to strike out the provision authorizing enlistment of 2,000 additional seamen was lost—21 to 51. He then moved to substitute for it a provision authorizing the secretary of the navy to assign as many officers and soldiers of the Marine corps to active duty on the secondary batteries of the warships as he might deem necessary. Lost.

The committee rose temporarily in order to give Mr. McMillin from the ways and means committee an opportunity to present the conference report on the joint resolution to extend the time for making income tax returns. The report was agreed to, and the naval bill was again taken up. At 5:40 o'clock the house adjourned until 11 to-day.

The committee on naval affairs is sanguine that the increases recommended will be authorized despite the determined opposition of Chairman Sayers, who announced he would fight the authorization of the new ships until the close of the session.

PLAN TO PAY DEBTS.

Chairman Reilly Offers a New Pacific Road Scheme.

Washington, Feb. 20.—Several members of the house Pacific railroad committee gave a hearing yesterday to the representatives of the Union and Central Pacific roads concerning the proposition that the government accept the principal of its debts in full payment of its claims upon the roads. The companies say they could raise the required amount to pay the principal if they could have the government lien as a security for the parties from whom they borrow. Chairman Reilly proposed that instead of raising the first mortgage debt and extending the government debts the companies should pay the principal of the government debt into the treasury, that interest on the government debt should be extended under the terms of the Reilly bill to be paid in installments through a period of fifty years with interest at 3 per cent. The advantage over the pending bill which this plan presents is that the treasury would reserve the amount of the principal of the government debt instead of the holders of the first mortgage bonds being given a settlement, and the government debt, principal and interest being extended. By this plan about $20,000,000 in round numbers would be paid into the treasury, the balance of the principal being covered by the sinking fund, which amounts to $14,000,000.

For a Prohibition Amendment.

Washington, Feb. 20.—Representative Blair (rep.) yesterday introduced a resolution in the house proposing an amendment to the constitution of the United States prohibiting the liquor traffic in the United States. The resolution is introduced by "request of general officers of the World's and the National W. C. T. U." and as the legal expression of the polyglot petition just presented to the President.

Chicago Papers Consolidate.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—The Chicago Herald and the Chicago Evening Post newspapers, with the building and plant of each, passed yesterday into the control of James W. Scott, who has been heretofore associated with John R. Walsh in the ownership and management of the two properties. Mr. Walsh's holdings of two-thirds of the stock of each paper, together with the Herald building, and the Evening Post building, were purchased by Mr. Scott for a sum said to approximate $2,000,000. It is also practically settled that within a few days the Chicago Times will pass into the control of Mr. Scott and will be consolidated with the Herald.

HAYWOOD TRIAL IS MAKING HEADWAY

THE DEFENSE SCORED A POINT OR TWO YESTERDAY.

It Is Said that Efforts Were Made to Corrupt a Witness—The Crowd Makes a Demonstration Against the Prisoner—Hayward Unmoved By the Yells of "Hang Him"

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 20.—George Grindal resumed the stand yesterday in the Hayward trial and said efforts had been made to corrupt his testimony by an attorney, Charles Ebert. Julia E. Walker of St. Paul testified to having seen Miss Gine several times in St. Paul with a middle aged man who wore an iron gray mustache. Lillian Burch, a girl 15 years of age, testified to hearing two shots at Lake Calhoun the night of the murder while she was skating. Gertrude Brown, 17 years of age, heard the same shots while she was skating. Shortly after 8 o'clock she saw two men with long coats and caps come from the direction of the ice houses, pass in front of them, and stop on the other side of the street. She thought they acted queerly, but could not describe why she thought so.

To-day the Hayward family will go on the stand to prove its alibi as to the night of the murder and then will come the reading of the Illinois insane depositions. Frank Erhart swore he had found in the dirt near where the body of the murdered girl lay a heel mark and then a toe mark of a woman's shoe. There was also the trace of where the foot had dragged to where the body lay. The evidence went to show that Miss Gine's body was pushed out of the buggy first instead of head first as Blix testified, and would help to impeach the evidence of Blix.

George Grindal said he was standing on First avenue north, between Fourth and Fifth streets, at 7 o'clock or thereabouts Dec. 3, the night of the murder. Standing a short way from him was a man "like that man there," said the witness, pointing to Attorney Sweetser. Grindal saw Miss Gine drive up. The man he had seen waiting there entered the buggy with her and they drove away. The description given by Grindal of the man who joined her does not fit Harry Hayward. This witness' testimony was somewhat shaken in the cross-examination. The elusive "third man" whom the defense has been so earnestly chasing thus bobs up again in this evidence, but in a different guise from the descriptions of him hinted at heretofore in the defense's evidence.

After the adjournment there was an immense crowd waiting outside of the court room to see Hayward taken to the jail. After he had passed Fourth street the cry went up from the top of a lumber wagon, in a hoarse voice: "Hang him, hang him." The prisoner looked over his shoulder at the crowd and smiled with that peculiar sneer which he knows so well how to assume. The yell had not ceased him and he went to his prison cell as gay as ever.

Favors Constitutional Convention.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 20.—The judiciary committee of the house yesterday spent some time in the consideration of Mr. Needles' resolution for the submission to the people at the next election of the question of calling a constitutional convention. Mr. Needles said he believed Illinois had outgrown the present constitution made a quarter of a century ago. He called attention to the defects in present revenue system and said it seemed impossible to get any relief in this direction without a new constitution. After some debate the following resolution was passed: "Resolved, By the house of representatives, the senate concurring herein, that a convention is necessary to revise, alter or amend the constitution of this state and the question of calling such convention shall be submitted to the electors of the state at the next general election, as provided for by Art. 2s of the present constitution."

MACMONNIES IN A PIQUE.

Refuses to Finish Design for Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument.

New York, Feb. 20.—Frederick MacMonnies, the sculptor, a native of Brooklyn, who has been engaged for some time in the work of designing a soldiers and sailors' monument to be erected by the state of Indiana, has canceled his contract, owing to difference with the commissioners on the work.

The monument, so far as the design is completed, represents a cost of $500,000. There remains to be designed two side groups and the contract calls for one representing "War" and the other representing "Peace." Mr. MacMonnies wanted to substitute a group representing naval achievements instead of the "Peace" group, in order to secure a more artistic effect in the work as an entirety, but the commissioners refused to permit this and Mr. MacMonnies refused to go on.

Witness Is Assaulted.

Connellsville, Pa., Feb. 20.—Charles W. Mouk, manager of A. Overholts & Co.'s distillery at Broadford, was murdered last night by two men. Mr. Mouk was the principal witness in the charges brought by Pennsylvania congressmen against E. P. Kearns, internal revenue collector for this district. The charges allege misconduct of the office and drunkenness and incompetency upon the part of gaugers. Although badly hurt, Mr. Mouk will recover.

BIG DAY'S BUSINESS
DONE AT MADISON

MANY BILLS WERE PASSED AND POSTPONED.

Vestibules For Street Cars and New Vessel Assessment Plan Recommended—Limit of $200 Taken From the State Superintendent's Salary—The Other Bills.

Madison, Feb. 20.—The bills reported for indefinite postponement were: those creating the office of deep waterway commissioner to promote better water communications with the Atlantic; establishing a contingent fund of fifty thousand dollars to be used when needed by the state board of health; for compulsory vaccination of children and employees in factories; withdrawing state lands from the market until the value of pine is ascertained. The bills for the assessment of all vessels according to their age and tonnage and for the protecting of street car employees from the weather by means of vestibules were recommended favorably. Bills were passed directing the refunding of the amount of state tax to Washburn county; providing that mortgagors of goods file inventories of sales and stock every sixty days; constitutional amendment removing limit of twelve hundred dollars on salary of the state superintendent. The legislators are all visiting the university this afternoon to find its needs.

LORD ROSEBERRY IS SHAKEN.

He Hastily Summons a Meeting of the Cabinet—Rumor of Dissolution.

London, Feb. 20.—There is much gossip in political circles here owing to the fact that Lord Rosebery, the prime minister, upon his arrival at the official residence in Downing street yesterday hastily summoned a meeting of the cabinet. The measures taken to summon the ministers were rather extraordinary. Messengers were dispatched in cabs to the offices or residences of the different ministers and all came to the meeting, which lasted fully an hour. The precarious condition of the party, as shown by the recent narrow majorities on various questions in the house of commons and the fact that Lord Rosebery had a long conference at Buckingham palace Tuesday afternoon with the queen, soon after her arrival from the Isle of Wight, and held a long conference with the whips of the liberal party to-day, all serve to increase rumors that a dissolution of parliament is imminent.

For several minutes Tuesday evening when the vote was being taken in the house of commons on Sir William Harcourt's motion to close the debate on the address in reply to the queen's speech it was confidently believed by the members of the opposition that it would be found that the government was defeated when the vote was announced. In the crowded lobbies of the house it was impossible to ascertain how the vote was going, but when the division was nearly over a whisper was circulated that the government was defeated. The loudness of the cheers with which the liberals greeted the announcement of the figures showed the extent of their anxiety, which was apparently well justified, for the vote was 279 to 271, giving the government but eight majority.

CAN'T PAY THE DUTY.

German Sugar Handicapped by the Impediment of Our Tax.

Washington, Feb. 20.—In a special report to the state department upon the production of German beet root sugar United States Consul Muth, at Magdeburg, presents some facts which explain in a measure the persistence of the German government in trying to secure the removal of our discriminating duty upon sugar. The report shows that even this small duty of one-tenth of a cent per pound means a great deal to the Germans, for the prosperity of vast interests depends upon a considerable extension of their sugar market in foreign countries, and so narrow is the margin between profit and loss, owing to overproduction and foreign competition, that this cannot be achieved under the slightest handicap in duties or charges.

Consul Muth says that the German beet sugar industry is passing through a serious crisis. There has been a great increase in production, from 24,500,000 hundredweight in 1892-93 to 27,500,000 in 1893-94. This year the crop will reach 36,000,000 hundredweight. In consequence prices have been falling below the cost of production. In 1893-94 raw sugar sold at 12 25-100 marks per hundredweight, and the actual cost of production found the balances on the wrong side, but the present season will witness greater loss. As soon as it became known that the beet crop was large and good, sugar began to decline, the price this month being 8 50-100 marks per hundredweight. This means a heavy loss for the factories. Beets cannot be grown for less than 1 1-10 marks per hundredweight and the factories now offer but 70 to 80 pfennigs, all they can afford, so the agriculturists must also suffer unless the government comes to their relief by larger bounties.

Germany must find a market abroad this year for 1,000,000 hundredweight more sugar than she exported last year, in the face, too, of greater foreign competition, for Austria also has an overplus of 3,500,000 hundredweight for export. The home consumption cannot materially increase, even with lower prices for sugar, as the heavy internal revenue tax of 2 1/2 cents per pound will prevent its rise in Germany as freely as in the United States and Great Britain. The big stock of sugar remaining on hand at the end of this year will also work havoc with next year's prices.

The consul gives at length a statement of the various causes which have brought about this state of affairs, such as overproduction, the workings of the bounty system and the turning of farmers from grain to beet raising because foreign competition has made the former unprofitable. He says in conclusion that relief has been promised by the German government, but its form has not been announced.

SAYS HE KILLED HER.

Murderer Lake Also Refuses to Appeal—The Convicted Man Weeps.

Albion, N. Y., Feb. 20.—William Lake, the convicted murderer of Emma Hunt, has been taken to Auburn. During a conversation with an Associated press reporter he said that much of the evidence sworn to on the trial was untrue, but he admitted that he killed the girl and said he could give no reason for his action and that they had no quarrel whatever. During his statement Lake broke down and cried like a child. Hughes & Kirby, Lake's attorneys, called on their client and broached the subject of an appeal. "But," said Lake, "I don't want an appeal. I am satisfied with the sentence and would not have it changed."

The officers of the jail were of the opinion that Lake would have gone alone to Auburn to have the sentence of death executed upon himself.

Siegmund Frank gave bonds and qualified as administrator. Affidavits have been obtained from two of the survivors, Carl Hoffman and John Vevera.

Whisky on Tap for the Legislators.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 20.—While the house of representatives was discussing the Nicholson temperance bill yesterday, Mr. Jackson of Carroll county declared there was a barrel of whisky in the basement of the state house which was free to the members on the floor. Pandemonium reigned immediately, and personal encounters with difficulty were avoided. There were cries of "Prove it." Mr. Jackson asserted he had been invited to partake of the whisky and when the uproar had subsided a committee of three was appointed by the speaker to locate the barrel and report.

NEW KIND OF GRIP IS HARD AT WORK

IT IS LESS SEVERE THAN THE OLD STYLE.

Starts In With a Soreness of the Throat or Lungs and Makes the Patient "Feel Tough Generally," But Yields More Readily To Treatment—Few Cases of Contagion In Town.

The new spring style of grip is here and ready for business. It is different from the old grip in many ways. The old grip started in by making every bone in the patient's body sore, and followed it up with chills, fever and lots of other things. There was only one recognized remedy, and that was whisky. Although physicians cured it without the use of that fluid, that was the general antidote. The old grip stayed by the people it took a fancy to, and some of them have it yet. The new grip is less severe, but it is bad enough. Perhaps you awoke on a morning or two, with a trace of soreness in your throat. You didn't pay much attention to it, and at noon you felt pretty good again. The third day your throat was quite sore, and you felt mean enough to rob a widow or whip your wife. You had sharp stabbing pains in your chest, and your lungs felt as if they were made of lead. By this time you think that some physician ought to know about the new complaint that you are carrying around and go to see him. He looks you over with a critical eye and nods familiarly at your symptoms. Then he gives you, probably, a bottle of colorless medicine and tells you to take a teaspoonful every three hours. You take the innocent looking vial and leave. When you take the first dose of the water like fluid you make a wry face and catch your breath. There is nothing on earth that taste like it unless it is something that has been kept too long, but it cures your grip.

Differs From the Old Grip.

"The trouble this winter is entirely different from that of last winter," said a local physician to a man who had just stored one of the bottles of colorless liquid in his overcoat pocket. "Last winter the first symptoms were chills and fever. This winter we do not find these symptoms at all, or at least very rarely. The first place the new disease strikes for is the head, throat or lungs. The patient usually has headaches and 'feels tough' generally but the new disease is not as severe as the old complaint. The old grip was so severe that many people never recovered entirely from it. There is a good deal of the new disease in town and all cases seem to be much alike."

Aside from the grip there is not much serious illness. Health Officer Robinson reports but two cases of diphtheria and both are very mild cases. One is at Moore Havens' home on North Main street, and the other in the family of William Ruger on South Bluff street. There are also two or three cases of scarlet fever, but all are mild cases, or convalescent.

CAR WHEEL BROKE WHILE TURNING

Narrow Escape From a Wreck Near the Leyden House.

A Chicago & Northwestern freight train was whirling by the Leyden House yesterday, when a wheel on one of the back trucks gave out and before the train could be stopped, considerable damage was done. The railroad men said that if it had been a wheel on the front end of a car, the train would have been derailed. The wrecking train was sent from here to straighten things out and bring in the pieces.

In these days of telephone, telegraph, electricity and steam, people cannot afford to wait days or as many hours for relief. This is our reason for offering you One Minute Cough Cure. Neither days, nor hours, or even minutes elapse before the relief is afforded. C. D. Stevens.

Three Have Occurred Lately and Another Is In Prospect.

Porter people are kept busy these days keeping track of weddings. C. H. Bates and wife are now receiving the congratulations of friends. Bowe, in St. Joseph's church, Edgerton, on Tuesday. They will reside on one of James McCarthy's farms in Porter township.

Charles Manley and Miss Mary Conway both of that town were married on last Monday. They will reside in Sun Prairie, the former home of the groom.

In the meantime quite a number of residents of that vicinity attended the Ryan-Connel wedding in Harmony on Wednesday. Mr. Ryan and wife will reside on the Ludden homestead.

HEN THIEF DROPPED A FAT POCKET BOOK

TOWN OF PORTER MAN LEFT CLUES BEHIND HIM.

They Say He Lost His Wallet With $29 In It While Helping Himself to Poultry—Frank Coppin's Whole Crop of Wrappers Stolen From the Shed.

Porter is a great town. They say that a farmer who resides in that township went to his poultry house one morning and was astonished to find that all his poultry—some three dozen choice hens—had been stolen during the night. The only trace of the thief was a pocketbook which had been accidentally dropped inside the house. The farmer picked the pocket book up, and when he opened it, found $29 in money, together with other papers which revealed the name of owner. He took the pocketbook and contents to one of his acquaintances in an adjoining town, and received a good price for his poultry. The owner, while he ranks well up in the possession of wealth, does not bear a high reputation for honesty, and already has a record in the criminal court of the county.

Stole a Ton of Leaf.

Bold thieves made a rich haul when they stole a ton of leaf tobacco from Frank Coppin's shed near the State School for the Blind. The thieves used a bob sleigh and a team of horses. Coppin valued the leaf at 6 cents a pound.

The tracks of the thieves could be plainly seen in the snow. They came from the south and turned into the field; drove around to the west end of the shed; pulled the staple where it was locked and after opening the outside door forced the door to the stripping room and selected out the wrappers. The crop was all in bundles but the thieves took none of the cheap goods confining their stealings entirely to the finer grade of goods. The bundles were then carried to the sleigh and hauled away. The track made when they left was also plainly discernable and led southward. The shed is located apart from any other building and no one saw the thieves. Mr. Coppin offers a reward of $25 but as yet he has learned of no clue. He lives with his mother, Mrs. Mary Coppin, 153 Lincoln street but works the land upon which the shed was built. He had been in the habit of visiting the shed every day but omitted one day on account of sickness and it was supposedly at this time that the leaf was taken.

MR. COOPER A HARD WORKER.

Business Compelled Him to Forego Making a Speech at Newark, N. J.

The Sentinel's Washington correspondent writes that Representative Cooper was forced to withdraw from his engagement in Newark, N. J., where he was to speak in conjunction with some of the leaders in congress. The correspondent says Mr. Cooper's time is so taken up with the Pacific railroad bill that he had to cancel the engagement.

A Novel Idea.

It is free, and deeply interests everybody who has aches or pains, or who is weak and sickly. Anyone can learn the surest and quickest means to get strong and well by accepting that splendid free offer of the great specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th street, New York City. He has established a system of letter correspondence through which all sick and suffering people can learn exactly what ails them, and how to get well, without expense and without leaving their homes. All they have to do is to write to the doctor, stating which symptom from which they are suffering, explaining their case thoroughly, telling just what the trouble is and what to do to be cured. He gives the greatest care and attention to every letter, and tells the cause of each symptom so plainly that patients understand instantly just what ails them. And all this costs nothing. It is a splendid opportunity for those who cannot afford the time or expense to go to the city. Dr. Greene makes a specialty of curing patients through letter correspondence. He is the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, and is the discoverer of that wonderful medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervous blood and nerve remedy. Those who write to him get cured.

So Said Dr. Eaton In Speaking Of The Individual Communion Cup.

Dr. E. L. Eaton took part in the discussion on the new idea of individual communion cups at Milwaukee, the other day, and said he did not think that there was any greater danger in the sacramental cup than in kissing. He said that while microbes might be conveyed in both he had never heard of any case of disease being conveyed by the cup.

SUNDAY'S SERMON
BY DR. TALMAGE

the while Christ was here achieving your redemption, is again occupied by the "Chief among ten thousand" and some of your own kindred who have gone up and, waiting for you, are leaning from the balcony. The windows of that castle look off on the king's gardens where immortals walk linked in eternal friendship; and the banquet hall of that castle has princes and princesses at the table; and the wine is "the new wine of the kingdom" and the supper is the marriage supper of the lamb; and there are fountains into which no tear ever fell and there is music that trembles with no grief and the light that falls upon that scene is never beclouded and there is the kiss of those reunited after long separation. More nerve will we have there than now or we would swoon away under the raptures. Stronger vision will we have there than now or our eyesight would be blinded by the brilliance. Stronger ear will we have there than now or under the roll of that minstrelsy and the clapping of that acclamation and the boom of that hallelujah we would be deafened. Glorious gospel! You thought religion was a straight-jacket, that it put you on the limits, that thereafter you must go cowed down. No, no, no. It is to be castellated. By the cleansing power of the shed blood of Golgotha set your faces toward the shining pinnacles. Oh, it does not matter much what becomes of us here—for at the longest our stay is short—if we can only land there. You see there are so many I do want to meet there. Joshua, my favorite prophet; and John among the evangelists; and Paul among the apostles, and Wycliffe among the martyrs, and Bourdaloue among the preachers, and Dante among the poets, and Havelock among the heroes, and our loved ones whom we have so much missed since they left us, so many darlings of the heart, their absence sometimes almost unbearable; and mentioned in this sentence last of all because I want the thought climactic, our blessed Lord, without whom we could never reach the old castle at all. He took our place. He purchased our ransom. He wept our woes. He suffered our sorrows. He died our death. He assured our resurrection. Blessed be his glorious name forever! Surging to his ear be all the anthems! Facing him be all the thrones!

Oh, I want to see it and I will see it—the day of his coronation. On a throne already, methinks the day will come when in some great hall of eternity all the nations of earth whom he has conquered by his grace will assemble again to crown him. Wide and high and immense and upholstered as with the sunrises and sunsets of a thousand years, great audience room of heaven. Like the leaves of an Adirondack forest the ransomed multitudes, and Christ standing on a high place surrounded by worshippers and subjects. They shall come out of the farthest past led on by the prophets; they shall come out of the early gospel days led on by the apostles; they shall come out of the centuries! All ahead of us, led on by champions of the truth, heroes and heroines yet to be born.

And then from that vastest audience ever assembled in all the universe there will go up the shout, "Crown him! Crown him! Crown him!" and the Father who long ago promised his only begotten Son, "I will give thee the heathen for thy inheritance and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession," shall set the crown upon the forehead yet scarred with crucifixion bramble, and the hosts of heaven, down on the levels and up in the galleries will drop on their knees crying, "Hail king of earth! King of heaven! King of saints! King of seraphs! Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and to thy dominions there shall be no end! Amen and Amen! Amen and Amen!"

No More Needed.

"Now, you'd better try a bottle of this," said the agent. "It is the best thing for dyspepsia in the market."

"I don't doubt it," said the householder, "but I have all the dyspepsia I want already."—Harper's Bazar.

The Keystone of the Arch

In the edifice of health is vigor, which means not merely muscular energy but an active discharge of the various functions of the body, such as digestion, secretion of the bile, the action of the bowels, the circulation of the blood. Nothing more actively and thoroughly contributes to the united performance of these functions than the renowned tonic and regulator, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The result of its use is a speedy gain in strength, together with the agreeable consciousness that the tenure of life is being strengthened—that one is lying up a store of vitality against the unavoidable draughts which old age makes upon the system. The fortifying influence of the Bitters constitutes a reliable safeguard against malaria, rheumatism and kidney trouble. Appetite and sleep improve through its use, and it protects the system from the effects of cold and damp.

CURES OTHERS

Mrs. J. H. LANSING, of South Glen's Falls, Saratoga County, N. Y., writes: "After my third child was born, I barely gained strength enough in two years' time, so as to be able to crawl about to accomplish the little house work that I had to do, and that only by lying down to rest many times each day; had sick headache very often, many pains and aches all the time. After I had taken one bottle of your 'Favorite Prescription' I could see a great change in my strength and less sick headaches. Continued taking the medicine until I had taken seven bottles of the 'Favorite' and one of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I am now able to do house work for myself and husband and two children aged nine and five. I also take dressmaking, and enjoy walking a mile at a time, when I can have the time to do so. And I am sure it is all due to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as I know I was failing fast before I commenced to take it."

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

1716—David Garrick, famous actor and dramatist, born in Hereford, England; died 1779.

1772—Isaac Chittenden, American commodore, born in Black Rock, Conn.; died 1840. Commodore Chittenden was one of the heroes of the naval encounters on the lakes during the war of 1812. Originally in the merchant service, he entered the regular navy in 1793. He commanded the Chesapeake in Tripoli and was made captain in 1801. At the beginning of the war of 1812 he took command on the northern lakes. Twice he defeated the British on the water and captured York and Port George.

1784—John Ellis Wool, general, born in Newburg, N. Y.; died in Troy, N. Y., Nov. 10, 1839.

1829—Joseph Jefferson, third actor of that name and most famous, born in Philadelphia.

1888—General Pierre Gustave Toutant Beauregard, famous American soldier and Confederate army leader, died at New Orleans; born near New Orleans 1818.

THE COST OF DEMOCRACY.

The Gazette stated recently that the loss to labor in enforced idleness since 1892 represented money enough to pay the running expenses of the government for ten years. A statement has recently been compiled, which shows that wages have fallen 21.77 per cent., and the aggregate sum paid yearly in 1892 was about $10,000,000,000. But two years of such loss have meant to the wage-earners no less than $4,350,000,000. This represents more than the government expenses for the past ten years.

The Gazette also stated that the loss to capital during the same time equaled a sum sufficient to pay the national debt. Here are the national figures as closely as they can be approximated by the New York Tribune. The average price of railroad stocks has declined $18 per share since January, 1893, or about $1,000,000,000 and bonds probably half as much more. The shrinkage in this kind of property, not far from a sixth of all the property of the country, has been more than a quarter of its former value, but has other property shrunk in like proportion.

During years of prosperity the deposits in savings banks were increasing at a rate of about $90,000,000 yearly for 4,500,000 depositors, and at the same rate the savings of all wage-earners would be not far from $480,000,000 yearly, but for the last two years there have been at the savings banks losses instead of gains except for interest on previous deposits.

These items only give some glimpse of the enormous losses sustained. The entire addition to the wealth of the country two years ago was more than $1,250,000,000 yearly, but there is every reason to believe that since that time there has been no addition, but a large actual decrease in other as well as railroad property. Certain it is that $2,500,000,000 does not measure nearly the whole of the loss in actual value of property during two years, while the sum distributed in wages has decreased much more. A rough estimate of the entire decrease in production of wealth can be drawn from the record of payments through all clearing houses, which bear about the same proportion each year to the production. In the twelve months preceding President Cleveland's inauguration on these payments were $62,459,000,000, in twelve months after they were $60,580,000,000, and in the twelve months which will end March 1 the aggregate will be about $16,000,000,000. If these sums were about five times the actual production the aggregate for the two years nearly ended would be $19,316,000,000 while for two years like 1892 it would be $25,000,000,000, a difference of $5,684,000,000 or $2,842,000,000 yearly.

But the national debt at its maximum, in August, 1865, was only $2,756,000,000. Democratic rebellion was costly, and had created that debt in four years, but each year of democratic government costs the people more. Part of the decrease, men will say, is "only in the prices of products," but that is exactly where the shoe pinches for the farmers, who have to sell 50-cent wheat and 5-cent cotton, and wool 39 per cent cheaper than two years ago. It brings home to them not only their fair share of the general loss, but considerably more, that they can get no better returns for their labor and their land, and about half the people in the country, it must be remembered, depend directly upon the prosperity of the farmer. For the rest of the people whose wages have fallen 22 per cent, the loss is tangible enough if not relatively so great.

I will have to be laid down as an economic fact of some consequence that a democratic party in power costs the country a little more than the national debt at its biggest, or in every year not less than $40 for every man, woman and child. According to the census the entire cost of all forms of government, national, state, county and city, was about $1,040,000,000, or less than $15 per capita. Out of $55 for every person, the present loss and expense of government, we have to charge $40 to democratic foolishness, and the rest is the cost of all service rendered.

FIRE IN FRED VANKIRK'S STORE

Center Groceryman Was Nearly Overcome by the Stifling Smoke.

The explosion of an oil lamp in Fred Vankirk's store in Center bid fair to destroy the entire property and Mr. Vankirk came very near suffocating in the smoke and flame.

He was using an oil lamp in running an incubator, when the lamp exploded and set fire to a number of boxes. Mr. Vankirk chanced to discover the fire before it got hot and went to work to put it out. The smoke was stifling, and almost before he knew it, Mr. Vankirk was staggering about nearly helpless.

"I had to get out, and concluded to let the whole thing burn," said Mr. Vankirk this morning, "but my wife came to the rescue and we went in again. By hard work we succeeded in putting the fire out, but I was completely done up."

W. J. HAHN WAS FOUND GUILTY
Albany Man Is Convicted of a Charge of Illegal Liquor Selling

For the first time in a long while, the lawyers say, William J. Hahn has been convicted in a court. The first of the nine cases against Hahn, Len Mitchell and William Wallace of Albany, for the alleged illegal sale of liquor at the notorious "Camp 20," was taken up in Monroe yesterday, and the jury returned a verdict of guilty after fifteen minutes' deliberation. The second case against Hahn was tried in the afternoon and some strong evidence introduced by the state. He was found guilty in this case also and has appealed both cases. There are three cases against each of the defendants.

Mr. Glass, who for the past two years has represented the "Henderson-Ames Company," manufacturers and importers of military equipments, of Kalamazoo, Mich., will now devote his whole time to that business.

SPRINTER COLLINS IS IN TOWN

The Famous Runner Recently Returned From the South.

Ryan-Connell.

This morning at 8 o'clock at St. Patrick's church, the world that united Miss Mary Connell and Daniel Ryan as husband and wife, were spoken by Dean E. M. McGinnity. Mr. Ryan is a farmer residing in the town of Center, and is well and favorably known, while Miss Connell is the daughter of Patrick Connell in the town of Rock. Each has a host of friends who wish them much joy. They will go to housekeeping on a farm in the town of Porter.

Wanted.

I want a beau. Am an Irish Catholic girl, 19, pretty, black hair; $500 in cash; very lively but modest. Address H. 29 Gazette Office.

A Card.

We can speak a good word for this girl as she is certainly lively and up to the times, for she has for some time past bought the Empress Josephine Toilet Preparations at our store, and their use has greatly enhanced her beauty. Samples and full information at C. D. Stevens' Pharmacy.

Spring Styles of Jewelry.

It may seem odd to mention spring styles of jewelry but such is the case. There are different styles for the season, the same as any other line. The last few days we have spent buying just such goods. For instance, we have the latest in guard chains, collarettes, shell side and back combs, very beautiful and just what pleases the ladies. Ask to see them.

FATHER BOWE GOES TO MONCHES, WIS

EDGERTON PRIEST HAS BEEN TRANSFERRED.

Drove Down Here From the Tobacco Town Yesterday and Took the Train From The Janesville Depot—Father Harlan, Formerly Curator Under Dean McGinnity Succeeds Him

When Rev. Father J. F. Bowe drove away from Edgerton yesterday he left that town where he had lived seventeen years, for good.

Hereafter he will be in charge of a church at Monches, Waushara county, while Father J. E. Harlan, formerly of this city, will succeed him in the Edgerton field.

The change was made yesterday. Father Bowe, who has not been seen on the streets much since his personal encounter with M. H. Ford, hired a team yesterday afternoon, was driven to Janesville, and took the evening train here. He had been pastor of the Edgerton church for seventeen years, and had been very successful, organizing the largest T. A. & B. society in Wisconsin at Edgerton.

The people in that city say that he is very charitable and helped the poor liberally during his long residence there.

His transfer had been expected for some time and therefore did not occasion much surprise in the tobacco town. Father Harlan, who succeeds him will be remembered by many Janesville people as curator under Dean McGinnity some years ago.

G. T. OLMSTEAD AGAIN AT LARGE

Crazy Man Who Shot W. J. Clifford, Escapes From a Guard.

Guy T. Olmstead, the insane man who shot Letter Carrier W. J. Clifford, of this city, at Chicago, is once more at liberty. He created a sensation by calling on Postmaster Hensing a few days since and demanded reinstatement. He was arrested at that time, and later was adjudged insane at the detention hospital and sent, with thirty other patients, to Dunning. The bus which conveyed them from the depot to the asylum was too small and Olmstead, with three others was left at the depot in charge of a guard. Hardly had the vehicle gone when Olmstead broke away and dashed down the railroad track. The guard was afraid to leave the other patients and so Olmstead escaped. A search was instituted, but no trace of him has as yet been found.

A Beautiful Window.

Many admirers stopped in front of Ziegler's windows last evening and studied this year's style of hats and neckwear. It is a very attractive display, the goods being arranged by E. J. Smith, the manager, who has an eye for attractive displays. In the hat window all the new spring styles of hats are to be seen. It's very easy to select the Miller as it "looms up" away above the rest, then comes the Yeoman, Roelof & Co's. best shape, and then all the others down the line. In the necktie window all the latest shades and styles are on exhibition: the large plaid—quite Scotch, is noticeable. Inside the store all are busy marking spring clothing, of which they have the largest stock they have ever purchased. Among the lot are beautiful blue and black Thibet suits which generally sell for $15, but for one week Ziegler will sell them for $8.

E. D. MILLER entertained a number of his gentleman friends at a banquet last evening at the Myers House.

SUNDAY'S SERMON BY DR. TALMAGE

THE GLORIOUS GOSPEL AND ITS HEAVENLY LIGHT.

The Text Chosen Being: "According to the glorious Gospel of the Most Blessed God Which Was Committed to My Trust"—Tim. I:11.

NEW YORK, FEB. 17, 1895.—Several thousand persons were turned away this afternoon from the doors of the Academy of Music, after the huge building had been filled to overflowing, the crowds having begun to assemble fully two hours before the time fixed for opening the services. Rev. Dr. Talmage took for his subject, "The Glorious Gospel," the text chosen being: "According to the glorious Gospel of the Most Blessed God Which Was Committed to My Trust."—1 Tim. I:11.

The greatest novelty of our time is the gospel. It is so old that it is new. As potters and artists are now attempting to fashion pitchers and cups and curious ware like those of 1,900 years ago recently brought up from buried Pompeii, and such cups and pitchers and curious ware are universally admired, so anyone who can unshovel the real gospel from the mountains of stuff under which it has been buried, will be able to present something that will attract the gaze and admiration and adoption of all the people. It is amazing what substitutes have been presented for what my text calls "The Glorious Gospel." There has been an hemispheric apostasy. There are many people in this and all other large assemblages who have no more idea of what the gospel really is than they have of what is contained in the fourteenth chapter of Zend-Avesta, the bible of the Hindoo, the first copy of which I ever saw I purchased in Calcutta, India, last September. The old gospel is fifty feet under and the work has been done by the shovels of those who have been trying to contrive the philosophy of religion. There is no philosophy about it. It is a plain matter of bible statement and of child-like faith. Some of the theological seminaries have been hotbeds of infidelity, because they have tried to teach the "philosophy of religion." By the time that many a young theological student gets half through his preparatory course he is so filled with doubts about plenary inspiration and the divinity of Christ and the questions of eternal destiny that he is more fit for the lowest branch in the infant class of a Sunday school than to become a teacher and leader of the people. The ablest theological professor is a Christian mother, who out of her own experience can tell the four-year-old how beautiful Christ was on earth and how beautiful he is in heaven and how dearly he loves little folks and then she kneels down and puts one arm around the boy and with her somewhat faded cheek against the rosy cheek of the little one, consecrates him for time and eternity to him who said, "Suffer them to come unto me." What an awful work Paul made with the D. D.'s and the LL. D.'s and the F. R. S.'s when he cleared the decks of the old gospel ship by saying: "Not many wise men, not many noble, are called, but God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the mighty."

There sits the dear old theologian with his table piled up with all the great books on inspiration and exegesis and apologies for the Almighty and writing out his own elaborate work on the philosophy of religion, and his little grandchild coming up to him for a good night kiss, he accidentally knocks off the biggest book from the table and it falls on the head of the child, of whom Christ himself said: "Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings thou hast perfected praise." Ah! my friends, the bible wants no apologies. The throne of the last judgment wants no apologies. Scientists may tell us that natural light is the "propagation of undulations in an elastic medium and thus set in vibratory motion by the action of luminous bodies," but no one knows what gospel light is until his own blind eyes by the touch of the Divine Spirit have opened to see the noonday of pardon and peace. Scientists may tell us that natural sound is "the effect of an impression made on the organs of hearing by an impulse of the air, caused by a collision of bodies or by other means," but those only know what the gospel sound is who have heard the voice of Christ directly saying: "Thy sins are forgiven thee; go in peace." The theological dude unrolls upon the plush of the exquisitely carved pulpit a learned discourse showing that the garden of Eden was an allegory and Solomon's song a rather indelicate love ditty and the book of Job a drama in which Satan was the star actor and that Renan was three-quarters right about the miracles of Jesus and that the bible was gradually evolved and the best thought of the different ages, Moses and David and Paul doing the best they could under the circumstances and therefore to be encouraged. Lord of heaven and earth, get us out of the London fog of higher criticism!

The night is dark and the way is rough and we have a lantern which God has put in our hands; but instead of employing that lantern to show ourselves and others the right way we are discussing lanterns, their shape, their size, their material and which is the better light—kerosene, lamp oil or candle; and while we discuss it we stand all around the lantern so that we shut out the light from the multitudes who are stumbling on the dark mountains of sin and death. Twelve hundred dead birds were found one morning around Bartholdi's statue in New York harbor. They had dashed their life out against the lighthouse the night before. Poor things! And the great lighthouse of the gospel—how many high-soaring thinkers have beaten all their religious life out against it, while it was intended for only one thing, and that to show all nations the way into the harbor of God's mercy and to the crystalline wharves of the heavenly city, where the harmonials are waiting for new arrivals. Dear skylarks, when they might have been flying seraphs.

Here also come, covering up the old gospel, some who think they can by law and exposure of crime save the world and from Portland, Maine, across to San Francisco and back again to New Orleans and Savannah, many of the ministers have gone into the detective business. Worldly reform by all means; but unless it be also gospel reform, it will be dead failure. In New York its chief work has been to give us a change of bosses. We had a democratic boss and now it is to be a republican boss, but the quarrel is, who shall be the republican? Politics will save the cities the same day that Satan evangelizes perdition.

The glorious gospel of the blessed God as spoken of in my text will have more drawing power, and when that gospel gets full swing it will have a momentum and a power mightier than that of the Atlantic ocean when, under the force of the September equinox, it strikes the highlands of the Navesink. The meaning of the word "gospel" is "good news," and my text says it is glorious good news and we must tell it in our churches and over our dry goods counters and in our factories and over our threshing machines and behind our ploughs and on our ships' decks and in our parlors, our nurseries and kitchens, as though it were glorious good news and not with a dismal drawl in our voice and a dismal look in our faces, as though religion were a rheumatic twinge or a dyspeptic pang or a malaria chill or an attack of nervous prostration. With nine "blesseds" or "happys," Christ began his sermon on the mount: Blessed the poor, blessed the mourner, blessed the meek, blessed the hungry, blessed the merciful, blessed the pure, blessed the peace makers, blessed the persecuted, blessed the reviled, blessed, blessed, blessed; happy, happy, happy. Glorious good news for the young as through Christ they may have their coming years ennobled and for a life time all the angels of God their coadjutors and all the armies of heaven their allies. Glorious good news for the middle aged, as through Christ they may have their perplexities disentangled and their courage rallied and their victory over all obstacles and hindrances made forever sure. Glorious good news for the aged, as they may have the sympathy of him of whom St. John wrote: "His head and his hairs were white like wool, as white as snow," and the defense of the everlasting arms. Glorious good news for the dying, as they may have ministering spirits to escort them and opening gates to receive them and a sweep of eternal glories to encircle them and the welcome of a loving God to embrace them.

Oh, my text is right when it speaks of the glorious gospel. It is an invitation from the most radiant being that ever trod the earth or ascended the heavens, to you and me, to come and be made happy and then take after that a royal castle for everlasting residence, the angels of God our cup bearers. The price paid for all of this on the cliff of limestone about as high as this house, about seven minutes' walk from the wall of Jerusalem, where with an agony that with one hand tore down the rocks and with the other drew a midnight blackness over the heavens, our Lord set us forever free. Making no apology for any one of the million sins of our life, but confessing all of them, we can point to that cliff of limestone and say, "There was paid our indebtedness and God never collects a bill twice. Glad am I that all the christian poets have exerted their pen in extolling the matchless one of this gospel. Isaac Watts: how do you feel concerning him? And he writes, 'I am not ashamed to own my Lord.' Newton, what do you think of this gospel? And he writes, 'Amazing grace, how sweet the sound.' Cowper, what do you think of him? And the answer comes, 'There is a fountain filled with blood.' Charles Wesley, what do you think of him? And he answers, 'Jesus, lover of my soul.' Horatius Bonar, what do you think of him? And he responds, 'I lay my sins on Jesus.' Ray Palmer, what do you think of him? And he writes, 'My faith looks up to thee.' Fannie Crosby, what do you think of him? And she writes, 'Blessed assurance, Jesus is mine.' But I take higher testimony: Solomon, what do you think of him? And the answer is, 'Lily of the valley.' Ezekiel, what do you think of him? And the answer is, 'Plant of renown.' David, what do you think of him? And the answer is, 'My Shepherd.' St. John, what do you think of him? And the answer is, 'Bright and morning star.' St. Paul, what do you think of him? And the answer comes, 'Christ is all in all.' Do you think as well of him, O man, O woman of the blood-bought immortal spirit? Yes, Paul was right when he styled it "The Glorious Gospel." And then as a druggist, while you are waiting for him to make up the doctor's prescription, puts into a bottle so many grains of this and so many grains of that, and so many drops of this and so many drops of that, and the intermixture taken, though sour or bitter, restores the health, so Christ, the Divine Physician, prepares this trouble of our life time and that disappointment and this persecution and that hardship and that tear, and we must take the intermixture, yet though it be a bitter draught, under the divine prescription it administers to our restoration and spiritual health, "all things working together for good." Glorious gospel!

And then the royal castle into which we step out of this life without so much as soiling our foot with the upturned earth of the grave. "They shall reign forever and ever." Does not that mean that you are, if saved, to be kings and queens, and do not kings and queens have castles? But the one that you are offered was for thirty-three years an abandoned castle, though now gloriously inhabited. There is an abandoned royal castle at Amber, India. One hundred and seventy years ago a king moved out of it never to return. But the castle still stands in indescribable grandeur, and you go through brazen doorway after brazen doorway and carved room after carved room and under embellished ceiling after embellished ceiling and through halls precious-stoned into wider halls precious-stoned, and on that hill are pavilions deeply dyed and tasselled and arched, the fire of colored gardens cooled by the snow of white architecture; birds in arabesque so natural to life that while you cannot hear their voices you imagine you see the flutter of their wings while you are passing; walls pictured with triumphal procession; rooms that were called "Alcove of Light" and "Hall of Victory;" marble, white and black, like a mixture of morn and night; alabaster and mother-of-pearl and lacquer work. Standing before it, the eye climbs from step to latticed balcony, and from latticed balcony to oriel, and from oriel to arch and from arch to roof, and then descends on ladder of all colors and by stairs of perfect lines to tropical gardens of pomegranate and vine apple. Seven stories of resplendent architecture! But the royal castle provided for you, if you will only take it in the prescribed terms, is grander than all that, and though an abandoned cas-

WHAT BABY WILL GET THE GAZETTE'S $500

THAT IS THE PRIZE TO BE AWARDED JUNE 1.

The Brightest, Sweetest and Loveliest Child in the City Will Be Given Five Shares of Paid Up Stock in the Rock County Building & Loan Association.

The sweetest, brightest and loveliest baby in Janesville gets $500
from The Gazette June 1.

Whose is that baby?

"That question sounds easy."

As if there was the least doubt whose baby is the loveliest," says every proud mother looking at her own olive branch. And that's the trouble. Talk it over until Christmas you may but never expect to get a convention of mothers to agree on the baby question.

For the benefit of jealous parents, anxious aunts and uncles and proud brothers and sisters of older growth, however, the matter should be settled.
And settled it is to be.

How?

Why not by vote?

That plan seems the fairest and most satisfactory—the safest too, for who would dare judge among the hundreds of dimpled darlings that grace the Bower City. A vote will decide, therefore, and all Janesville may cast their ballots. Three months from the day the polls open a $500 block of stock in the Rock County Building Loan and Savings Association will be turned over to the infant with the strongest "drag", as politicians would put it.

Five hundred dollars.

A handsome nest egg for any infant.

Put out at interest until the little one reaches maturity and it swells to proportions even more impressive.
And in building association stock with all dues paid it is in very desirable form.

The association selected is known to everybody in the city. These are the officers and directors who testify to its solidity. These are the men:

President—Samuel C. Cobb.

First Vice President—Alex. Graham.

Second Vice President—W. H. Judd.

Attorney—Charles E. Pierce.

Secretary—George L. Carrington.

Treasurer—Isaac Farnsworth.

Directors—S. C. Cobb, Alex.

Graham, Dr. William H. Judd, L. B.
Reynolds, Miss Lizzie Paterson, James
E. Fifield, George L. Carrington, E.
W. Lowell, S. B. Lewis, Archie Reid,
F. M. Marzuff, H. F. Bliss.

These officers and directors stand behind every share of the association's stock. Five shares of this stock is now in the association's keeping subject to the Gazette's order. Polls will be open in the Gazette office March 1 and will remain open until June 1.
The baby that receives the most ballots in that time will receive a certificate calling for these five shares of stock. There are no dues to be paid, no assessments to be met, no installments to provide for. The stock stands for $500 in cash and on its maturity, which will be in nine and one-third years,
the money will be ready. The prize is a handsome one—it is well worth winning and the conditions of the ballot are as follows:

From March 1 until June 1, a coupon will be printed in each issue of The Gazette.

Any one, anywhere in any state is entitled to vote as often as they buy a copy of The Janesville Gazette containing the above ballot.

Cut the ballot out (trimming on the dotted lines.) Write in the name of your candidate and enclose same in an envelope addressed to to Ballot Editor, Gazette, Janesville, Wis.

Only one person can be voted for on one ballot.

The baby who receives the largest number of votes will receive five shares of stock in the Rock County Building & Savings Association, cash value, $500 at maturity.

The contest will close June 1 at 9
p. m., and the stock will be delivered as soon as the count of votes is completed.

Any non-subscriber who will subscribe for The Gazette and pay in advance will be entitled to the following number of ballots:

New subscriber paid in advance one month, 100 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance two months, 250 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance six
months, 900 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance one
year, 2,000 votes.

Each new subscriber who pays in advance and casts the number of votes
